

Gertrude Stein

LINES 1967

Good afternoon.
Good morning.

Wheels shine in wheels.

Ball
Tower
Watch
Quilt
Satin

William behind Cora.

Daisy.
Delay.

The sun is not shining on her head yet.

Now come oh.

This comes yesterday.

Cunning. Likely. Breezes.

I made that.
Almost.

He said. He said.

After lists afternoon.

Dolly is Dorothy.

Between today.

Not Jane.

There
And Here.

George or George.

This book is made up of excerpts from As Fine As Melantha, volume four of the Yale edition of the unpublished writings of Gertrude Stein.
